THE GREEN CAP

As you walk through the campus, you will notice a green cap on the head of the statue of the founder of the university. This is a symbol of the university's history and its commitment to education.

Back to the green cap. The green cap is a symbol of the university's history and its commitment to education. It is a reminder of the university's long and proud tradition of learning and scholarship.

I welcome all of you to one of the most friendly and most competent groups of staff members, undertaking to carry a similar assignment on the American educational scene, and they may become lasting friends as well as its spring teachers. The prize is worth working for.

On behalf of the Administration and of the instructional staff, secretarial group, and all others who contribute to your education, I say, "We are down right happy to have you among us at UTMB to cheer us, to inspire us, and to work with us."

Have you ever noticed the way the girls look at each other? It's a look of admiration and respect. They know each other's strengths and weaknesses, and they support each other through thick and thin.

There's a lot of love and friendship in the girls' world. They share secrets, support each other, and have fun together. It's a world of sisterhood and mutual respect.

UTMB Farm Boasts New 5000 Ton Silo

By BOB PARKINS

The UT Farm is now boasting a brand new self-feeding trench silo with an estimated capacity of 500 tons. Even a gopher would marvel at the methods recently utilized by the Ag. Faculty to complete the project. The new silo measures 150 feet in length, 6 1/2 feet deep, and 20 feet wide at the bottom.

To begin with, the hillside selected for the site was carefully measured off and lined up. Then, the "Silo Dream," a modified form of a ditch-digger, was contracted to dig a sloping ditch on each side of the 150 length of the proposed lay-out. These two ditches were seven inches wide and seven feet deep. The two ditches were then filled with ready-mix cement and allowed to settle for several days.

Shortly afterwards, a bulldozer was brought in to simply push out the dirt and leave the ready-made concrete walls standing! At this point a four inch concrete floor was laid through the perspiring efforts of several members of the faculty. Also a ramp was constructed at one end and to approximately 45 feet in length was laid on the lower end.

This project was engineered by Mr. Knepp who is noted for his ability in agricultural engineering. Not only is it the latest in design, it is also the latest in economy. Mr. Culvahouse stated "The cost of this silo is about half what the cost would be to build an upright silo with the same capacity."

The silo has been filled with a mixture of corn and sorghum primarily. Mr. McMahon estimated 210 loads were required to fill it to capacity. Each load weighed approximately 1 1/2 tons. Pile and gate wagons were utilized to unload the ensilage. The discharge was watered down and packed with tractors.

This new silo is an asset to UT Farm in many ways. It will self-feed approximately 40 cows with a great savings in labor and time. Silage may be stored there for as long as five years without ever being touched. This "man-made" gopher hole may truly become a lasting monument to the present era of engineering and the future of UTMB have all been gone. The silo is a pit silo of 1955 will still remain.

DELTA PHI DELTA HAS FIRST MEETING

The first regular meeting of the Delta Phi Delta chapter was held Tuesday night, September 27. The living room of Freeman Hall was quite crowded as our girls were anxious to get into the dormitory swing.

Under the supervision of our new president, Carolyn Smith, the following officers were elected for this year: Kay Pritchett, vice-president; Betty Hatchins, secretary-treasurer; Carol Peoples, ASC representative; Mary Jane Coble, Freeman Hall representative.

How Do You Like Your Music?

By L. B. MARSHALL, Jr.

The noises you can not seem to quite place are the melodious mummings of the College Chorus as they begin the big job of putting together voices and rhythm to compose a great sounding group of men and women. The chorus as of now is boasting a total of 45 members. The time and toil now being given is going toward a Christmas program this quarter. Extra rehearsals are being held on each Monday night for those who have conflicts at regular rehearsals. All students are welcome.

Also being planned is a Variety Show to be given sometime during the winter quarter. As a main feature in the variety show there will be a male quartet and girls' sextet. Tryouts are now open for a few more parts in each of the groups. Contact Miss Fulton if you are interested.

Leading off the concert series this year is a program being put on at Paris. Basil Rathbone and Helen Gahagan Douglas are combining talents in a production that will excite any production seen in these parts in a long while. The production is entitled "One Plus One." They are appearing in a series of dramatizations chosen from among the works of the world's great short story writers including such authors as: DeMaupassant, Stephen Vincent Benet, H. G. Wells, George Sands, Anton Chekov, and O. Henry. The program will be October 17; Student Activity Cards will be accepted.

Another of the outstanding groups we are fortunate to have in the series is the Chanticleers Male Quartet which will be here October 27 at the UT gym. Student activity cards must be shown at the door.

The College Band, composed of 18 members, is also now getting underway in preparation for the season of school activities. School sweaters have been issued and were displayed at the game Friday night in the band's first play showing. The band will play for the football games and other student activities this quarter, and basketball games next quarter. Award sweaters and letters are given in recognition of outstanding interest in the band. First year awards are the letters and second year awards are the sweaters. Awards in the band can be obtained without having to take band for credit. Any persons who are interested in playing in the band should contact Miss Fulton.

Campus Strolling

By WILL HAYS

Well, here it is, fall quarter again for some of us, a new experience for others; but one thing for sure, it's college life for nine months. As I walked over the campus today towards the administration building, I noticed something that hadn't been there before, at least to my knowledge. So curiosity got my goat and I idled over towards a great big tree with a very obvious silver rectangle tacked firmly about eye level on its trunk.

I became bewildered at the writing on it at first and then mustering all of my knowledge from that once almost failed Botany course, I made a surprising discovery. That little silver disk contained the name of the tree in plain English. The only thing I remember is "Black Oak," "Identified Sept. 21, 1955." This proved purely amazing. I glanced around at all the other trees in sight and lo, they also had been tagged. Then I thought that this was one way to learn the names, technical and common, of trees without the necessity of taking a botany course or else so fascinating that one would be prompted to rush headlong next quarter into a science course called Botany 111.

These little improvements are what we like to see on our campus. Being thus favorably impressed, I grabbed the telephone, being too lazy to walk, and called Mr. Horton, Head of the Liberal Arts Department, and asked him if he knew about our trees being tagged. He said in return that he did and that since most other campuses have their trees identified, they decided that identifying ours would be a worthwhile enterprise. So Mr. Grady Taylor, of the Biological science division of the Liberal Arts Department, undertook the task. As yet the job has not been completed, but much has been finished. We are proud of our science department for undertaking such a project of campus improvement. Three cheers for them.

ODDS AND ENDS DEPARTMENT: These green beans give a man pause. Seems only yesterday that I had one of those ridiculous things parked atop my hatrack... What's all this I hear about midnight oil and Statistics? Overheard in the bookstore Monday afternoon, "This Engineering Drawing is gouging out my eyes." His friend briskly between cheeks of a sticky candy bar, "Get glasses." Why is it that every time I pass by the English classroom where MRS. Payne has her classes, I only survey dejected faces toiling over manuscripts. When the bell rings they don't have enough energy to knock anyone down standing in the doorway.

MOVIES DEPARTMENT: I have the tendency to criticize movies severely and completely ostracize TV but once in a long while there comes a movie that is different and deserves three loud cheers. If the opportunity ever arises to see "Mr. Roberts", don't miss it. Some scenes will strictly slay you.

THE LAST YELP: Thank heaven that English 211 test is over. At this rate, that class will have an extra large enrollment next year. Half the class are veterans of literature.

A Short Short Story:

Sunday Morning

By WILL HAYS

Skeeter stood erect as Granny inspected the wash job behind his ears. For sixteen years she had always performed this ritual, especially just before church Sunday morning. He had outgrown his overalls but not this inspection, which usually ended with an order back to the sink for more rubbing and scrubbing. He often wondered why Granny was so military. Uncle Freidward was a Confederate soldier but Granny was the best horse raiser in Cheatham County, in fact, the best horse doctor. There was a time when humans preferred him than the young Dr. Dallas.

The air was hot this Sunday morning, the sun well high toward nine o'clock. In the distance a church bell pealed.

"Well, for once your ears are clean. Who is she?" Granny teased. "My ain't we gettin' mighty grown up all commencing once." She continued her early Sunday going-to-meeting preparation. Granny had a way of asking a question in a round about way but getting the answer she wanted.

"She ain't nobody." Skeeter said, looking in the mirror and slicking down his hair where three hairs stood on ends.

"Don't say ain't," Granny corrected not paying mind to him.

"Well, there isn't anyone, then," he corrected himself.

"Don't they teach you anything down at that high school 'sides books?" Granny was teasing, toying with him like a cat toys with a mouse. At that instant he felt sympathy for all martyr mice.

"Well, no." He paled smiling. "They teach us how to keep count of the corn acreage and figger up a yield for the year. And they teach us Physical Education and other such things." He beamed proudly at having counteracted her statement.

"Good point," she said glibly. "Now hurry up. We're goin' to be late as it tis." She stood adjusting her large hat before the hall mirror.

"Granny," he paused, "I was just thinkin', do I have to sit with you and Gramps today. Kinda thought I'd sit with the other fellows in the back."

"Why?" she asked. She didn't appear to pay much mind to the matter except for a slight turn of the head to hear the response better.

"Well, heck, all the other guys sit together. Almost all the young people do." He examined her for a response but she only returned to adjusting her hat with infinite pains. An almost pert little smile appeared on her face that said in effect that she understood and that she was once young.

"Well, I don't know, I suppose that it would be all right if you don't start talking in church. And leave that Sally Fyor alone, you hear."

His face blushed beet red. How did she know? He didn't tell her or anyone.

Granny laughed when she saw him.

"How did you know?" He asked nervously.

"Oh, a little bird told me." She smiled, thinking back about a conversation with Sally's mother and remembering all his peculiar actions about his dress. "Oh, a little bird told me."

Faculty Changes In Home Ec Dept.

Miss Mary Armstrong, Head of the Home Economics Department, has been employed along with five other teachers from the University of Tennessee to help establish a graduate program in Home Economics in the colleges of India. Miss Armstrong will be stationed at the Woman's Christian College in Madras, India, and will be in India for a period of two years.

This team of teachers is employed through an exchange program instigated by the Ministry of Education of India and the United States Government. Formerly, the Indian Ministry of Education sent students to this country but it was thought that it would be better socially and economically to have teachers from this country to come there. More people would benefit from this method.

Miss Jessie W. Harris, Vice-dean of Home Economics at the University of Knoxville, was asked to develop this program, and it is known as the "University of Tennessee in India." These teachers will be teaching in the field of child development, home management, textiles and clothing, foods, and nutrition. Other universities over the country have like developments in engineering, chemistry, and other fields.

During Miss Armstrong's absence, Miss Mary Ida Flowers, associate-professor in foods and institutional management, will be acting head of the Home Economics Department. Miss Flowers came to UTMB 2 years ago from the University of Alabama. She has had experience in administration and teaching. She was manager of the College Tearoom and assistant dietitian for the Mississippi State College of Women before beginning her teaching career. She will teach courses in Nutrition, Home Economics 101, an introductory course, and Quantity Cookery and Buying.

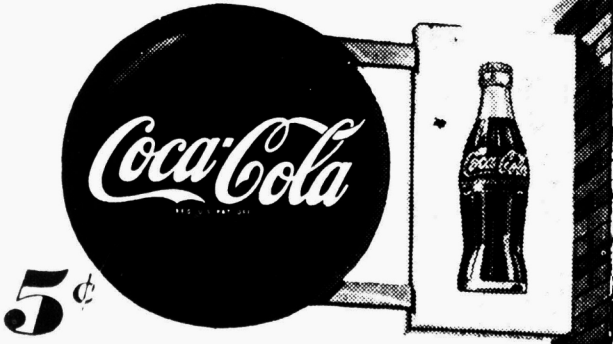

Mrs. Doris Milton, former associate-professor of textiles and clothing at UTMB, has accepted the position as Head of the Home Economics Department at Austin Peay College in Clarksville, Tennessee. She assumed her duties there on September 1 of this year.

RAMBLING THROUGH REED HALL

By WANDA HOPKINS

We Reed Hall women are simply bursting at the seams with pride of our lovely dorm and those wonderful washing machines! With all that and a sweet hostess like Mrs. Clifton, we're mighty lucky indeed. And too, I hear we have a ratio of 3.8 boys to every girl on the campus. That sounds like The Life of Riley. But, as one disgusted freshman said to another, "It'll be my luck to get the 3.8."

If anybody wants to learn to jiggerbug, Hettenger and Coliharp would be excellent teachers. They've got loads of records and they love to cut a rug.

Evidently Evelyn Pinderton is the most popular girl with the Blue Goose men, our nearest neighbors. The rest of us are jealous, Evelyn. I hear they are digging a tunnel through to Reed Hall. Need any help?

We have another Barbara Brooks in our dorm, only this one is from Memphis. I guess she can be B.B. too.

Linda Stanfill, we adore that Southern drawl. Thanks Linda and Eleanor for putting us back into the cheering section. Way to go girls!!

Angela Warman really rates. Honest to goodness, she has a good looking sailor's photograph on her desk and also a guy back at Ruthersford. That do make it nice!

Helen Claire Cherry, the lively little gal with the versatile voice, is one of the "Suite Four" this year.

We're going to have to start charging rent to Bill Teuton. He has fast become a familiar sight around these parts. His latest is Sandra Roush. She is the one who gets up so early every morning. We like her over here, Bill.

Huey Claybrook, you do have some competition you know. I'm referring to the little young girl in room 30. You know, the cute one with the pony tail.

Pentecost likes Claybrooks too, don't you Carol Ann?

Dixie Dyer got a telephone call last night and honestly didn't remember answering it. When our Dixie does something like that, you can watch out buddy.

Mary Evelyn Davis, I hear Union City just can't be beat for producing boy friends.

Old Cupid has brought another Wilson House boy into our hallowed walls (clutches). He is none other than Warren Macklin. Eh, Janice Ann Joyner? Welcome aboard, Warren. Yes, the Wilson House boys continue to shine around here, but I do so wish some more of them had crew cuts.

I think that green braid is very becoming to Betty Sample's blond hair, don't you Elton?

Dickie and Martha seem to enjoy gazing at the stars . . . together.

Betty Privett and Ann Clift, just who are those upperclassmen you two are so vitally interested in?

Euna Dean Morris is dating Graige Grant now. Glad to have you as a Reed Hall boy, Grant.

Darnell, how does it feel to date the PRESIDENT OF THE BUSINESS CLUB? And the guy owns two cars too. Can't you beat that?

Jennie Mac, just why have you become so engrossed with the town of Newbern? It could be the people from Newbern. I never know about my roommate anymore.

Philippi Watkins, one of the most popular and best liked boys on the campus is still seen a sweet-talking our Pat Kirk. Luck to you, Patricia Ann.

Patsy Anderson and Sasser are the lucky ones. Both are sporting diamonds; so boys, I guess they're taken.

I think Elizabeth Sytz is glad all the flag raising ceremonies are about over. It seems that Sunny is the number one climber.

In closing I leave a word for the day: don't look at your roommate's schedule and go to the wrong lab class.

Dear Miss Pix:

In desperation, I write this note. I like people but feel shy and unnecessary around them. No one seems to like me. I try to be friendly, but when I begin a conversation I become panicky and run. Please advise me.

Longingly yours,
Scotty Ringold
P.S. I'm nice-looking too.

Dear Mr. Ringold:

Your problem is a common one. The best advice I can give you is to forget yourself and concentrate on others. If you are nice-looking, you should have no worries as to people's noticing you. Don't run from others, especially if it is a member of the opposite gender. Follow these simple instructions and I think your problem will be solved.

Dear Miss Pix:

My problem is low grades. All my friends make the honor roll, but I always barely get by. I hate to go home because my parents expect me to make A's. What must I do.

Sincerely yours,
Anne Meek
P. S. My major is campusology.

Dear Miss Meek:

Your problem is one confronting many college students today. My advice to you is either to change your major or enroll at Georgia Tech. Elsewhere, be content with your lot and try to study all the harder.

BUSINESS CLUB HOLDS YEAR'S INITIAL MEET

By SHIRLEY HAWKS

The Business Club held its first meeting of the fall quarter on Monday, September 28, at 6:45 P. M. The president, Melv Whitehead, called the meeting to order.

He introduced Mr. Baker, head of the Business Department, who talked briefly on the functions and the importance of the Business Club.

Following this Mr. Baker introduced the officers of the club which were as follows: President, Melv Whitehead; Secretary, Betty Fay Vaughan; Treasurer, Jimmy Burgess; and Program Chairman, Martha Ruth Godwin.

The program chairman then took over, and in order for new members to become acquainted she had each one stand and give his name and home town.

Due to the fact that two of the officers did not return this year, a new vice-president and reporter had to be elected. The new officers elected were Roy Roberts, vice-president, and Shirley Hawks, reporter. Jerry Jones was selected as a representative to the Annual staff.

After a short business meeting, the club adjourned.

After adjournment refreshments were served.

EDITOR'S LAMENT

Getting out this paper is no picnic.

If we print jokes, people say we are silly.

If we don't they say we are too serious.

If we stick close to the office all day,

We ought to be around hunting material.

If we do go out and try to hustle,

We ought to be around hunting material.

If we don't print contributions,

We don't appreciate genius!

If we do, the paper is filled with junk!

If we clip things from other papers,

We are too lazy to write them for ourselves.

If we don't, we are stuck on our own stuff.

Now, like as not, some guy will say,

We swiped this from some other paper—

WE DID!

Home Ec Club Held Reception Sept. 26 For Faculty, Students

By MARGIE JOWERS

The University of Tennessee Martin Branch Home Economics Club held a reception on September 26 in the living room of the Home Economics Building. At this time we welcomed the new students and faculty members into our club. Our two new faculty members are Miss Hazel Bradshaw, instructor in Home Management, and Miss Ruby Whitehead, instructor in Foods and Nutrition. The reception proved so successful that we hope to make it an annual affair.

Our clubs have made plans for an interesting year. Meetings are held the first and third Monday nights of each month and have been planned by our program chairman, Carol Ann Wood, with emphasis placed on opportunities afforded in the different fields of Home Economics. One of our first socials this fall is the sponsoring of the all student dance held in the gym Friday night, October 1, after the game with Memphis State "B" team. We are also looking forward to our annual fudge party and other socials sponsored by the Home Economics Club throughout the year. Another project we plan to carry out is working with the Ag students in the joint publishing of a quarterly paper, "Ag Echo", dealing with happenings both in the Agriculture and Home Economics Departments.

Mrs. Doris Milton, our former club advisor, resigned her position as Assistant Professor of Textiles and Clothing at the University of Tennessee Martin Branch and is now head of the Home Economics Department at Austin Peay State College. Mrs. Milton was sponsor of our club for a number of years and she did much to foster the development of it.

Our new sponsors for the coming year are Miss Aaltje Van Denburg, Miss Mildred Price and Miss Hazel Bradshaw. With a total of 110 members including our 30 Freshmen we hope to make this the best year ever!

Officers of our college club are: President, Janice Joyner; First Vice-President, Carol Ann Wood; Second Vice-President, Barbara Miles Shannon; Secretary-Treasurer, Joyce Bizzelle; All Students Club Representative, Mary Ruth Clayton; Reporter, Margie Jowers.

B.S.U. PLANS TO HAVE SKATING PARTY SOON

The week-end before school started, the Baptist Student Union held its pre-school retreat at Swan Bay Resort near Paris Landing. Plans were made there for this year. Those plans included a roller skating party which will be held Saturday night, October 15, for all students who enjoy skating. Meet at the Music Building at 6:30 P. M. Remember, you don't have to know how to skate to go skating with the B.S.U.

One of the big activities coming up this month is the B.S.U. Convention to be held at Clarksville, Tennessee. We regret to say that the convention this year will be held on our Homecoming weekend.

We realize that that is a time when most students want to stay on the campus. But there will be several going from here to Clarksville; and if you want to go, select Clarice Thomason, our student secretary. The cost will be around $10.00.

Don't forget Noonday everyday at 12:35 and the B.S.U. meetings every Tuesday night at 8:00 P. M. at the Music Building.

Freeman and Oxford Dorms Have Change In Dorm Mothers

Mrs. Ruth L. Kimery of Greenfield, Tennessee, began her services as a hostess at Oxford House with the beginning of the school year. Mrs. Kimery has attended college three years and has five years' experience teaching in elementary schools. She has two children who now have homes of their own.

Mrs. Ina May Corum, hostess at Oxford House last year, was transferred to Freeman Hall with the beginning of the current session. She replaces Mrs. Lida B. Freeman, who exercised her option to retire. Mrs. Corum undoubtedly will maintain the high standard of relationship between hostesses and students that has existed for many years.

With The ROTC

By L. B. MARSHALL, Jr.

"What is the dress for the day?" "Khakis and OD cap." That was the way the military department started off this year. From the way things started off it seems as though we will have a very promising group of cadets. As of now there are 290 cadets: 199 freshmen and 91 sophomores.

The supply sergeant, Sgt. Portierfield, stated that with this many cadets the Military Dept. is having a hard time fitting all the cadets. As he stated in an interview, "The supply situation is critical." Just about all the issuing has been completed with the exception of a few "odd" sizes. Supplies have been requisitioned and should be here in a few weeks.

In an interview with Major Sieber, top man of the military representation here at the University, I found out some interesting news pertaining to all the cadets. Campus courtesy will be enforced as part of the military training. "All cadets in uniform will salute all officers of any branch of service on and off the campus. They will also be expected to salute any other ROTC cadet officer in uniform."

To enforce the soldierly conduct and proper wearing of the ROTC uniform, plans are being made for a Courtesy Patrol. The patrol will probably cover the campus and most of the town on drill days.

Again this year, there will be a ROTC Rifle Team composed of 10 or 12 of the sharp-shooting cadets who have been trying out for the team and will continue to do so until 5:00 P. M. Wednesday. All cadets are welcome to come down to the rifle range and try out for the team.

A drill team similar to the one of last year is now being developed. It will be composed of about a dozen of the smart stepping cadets who make the grade in the tryouts. Tryouts are going on now and are open to all cadets.

The most eye catching part of the drill parades is the group of sponsors chosen by the men themselves. The sponsors, sharply clad in white uniforms, will soon be marching with the cadets this year. Plans are being made for the election of the sponsors and the outcome should be announced by Thursday of next week.

Also with the Military Department we have with us this year some new personnel. They are Capt. Hayes and Sgt. J. J. Koch. Sgt. Koch arrived here in July to begin a probable two year teaching assignment. During his time with the active units in service, Sgt. Koch spent the major portion of his time in Europe. He is married, but has no family other than his wife. His home town is Shawnee, Oklahoma. When I asked him for an opinion of teaching he answered, "Fair, I guess, it's a job. No part of the Army is a grave train." I asked him for an opinion of ROTC training and this was his reply: "ROTC is a good deal. Wish I could have had the chance you have. More people should take advantage of it. The advanced course is the real help."

Information on Captain Hayes was unavailable at the time of publication.

The usually smart stepping ROTC Band showed up a little rusty after losing some of its best players and also after a summer's vacation. An advantage the band has this year is more players than in any recent year. With a little more time and practice the band should prove to be the best yet produced by the ROTC.

Liberal Arts Club Had First Meeting Sept. 26

By DAN CROCKER

The Liberal Arts Club got off to a good start Sept. 26 by the election of the following officers: Elton King, President; Elliott Johnson, Vice-President; Anne Meek, Secretary-Treasurer; and Mac Johnson, ASC Representative.

A musical program was the main feature of the first Liberal Arts Club meeting. Later refreshments were served. Almost 40 of the 75 members were present. The Liberal Arts Club will meet the first Monday night of every month. All members are urged to attend.

Mevel Whitehead Heads Business Club for Fall

By C. C. McCALL

The officers of the Business Club for fall quarter are Mevel Whitehead, president; Roy Roberts, vice-president; Betty Fay Vaughan, secretary and treasurer; and Martha Godwin, program chairman and A.S.C. Representative.

The Business Club met for the first time on Sept. 26 and Mr. Baker outlined a few of the club's activities for the year. The regularly scheduled meeting are on the first and third Mondays of every month at 6:45. All Business students are invited.

Between the great things we can not do and the small things we will not do, the danger is that we shall do nothing.

FREEMAN HALL'S UPS AND DOWNS

Another year of fun and studies has begun, and Freeman starts off with a big loss and a big gain. Yes, Mrs. Freeman, who has held the love and respect of her girls for many years, has resigned, and we all miss her deeply, but taking her place, we have Mrs. Corum, who has already warmed our hearts. Mrs. Corum, we hand you the key to Freeman Hall with a sincere welcome!

Twelve new girls are with us, too. In case you'd like to know their names, boys, they are: Jan Von Almen, Norma Jean Blacklock, Annette Conner, Kate Dean, Carolyn Gaba, Kay Groves, Fay Hunt, Peggy Knox, Marjorie O'Brien, Kay Pritchett, Ann Stanford, and Shelby Webb. Three sophomores have joined our happy family, too. They are Glenda Abbott, Sue Janeway, and June Warren. To all of you, a great big welcome!

Waitin' for the gossip? Well, here's the latest!

Lost and Found Dept.: Pat Smith, who's just found out that UTMB boys outnumber us 6 to 1, is looking for some greedy girl with twelve. She thinks somebody's snatched her six fellows. Is there a reward offered, Pat?

New engagement rings bedeck the left third finger of Martha Ruth Godwin, Frances Taylor, Hilda Halley, Rose Marie Roberts, and Carol Peeples. You girls have any hints for us hopefuls?

Gifts before Christmas? Jan Von Almen has a darling green cap and red glasses to match. Wonder where Jere Baldrige got them, Jan!

Phone's ringing!! Most likely it's for Norma Jean Blacklock, the way calls have been running lately. Maybe she's the one Pat's looking for!

It just doesn't do to have these men running off to Knoxville, does it, Doris Roberts? Letters from Charles Stephenson are better than nothing, though, aren't they?

A request was made and duly granted that the porch lights be blinked five minutes ahead of time so that "unfinished business" may be attended to. Shirley O'Neal, do you and Ray Adams find the time to be sufficient?

Ann Stanford's turning her courting into a family situation. Ann, do you use sugar in your tea, or is Selmer providing the sweetening?

Maxine Stover, the country gal who loves flies, has now knocked over her screen to let the little critters in.

Where you see one, there's the other! That's the situation with folks like Alice Holloway and Ray Rawls. Isn't campusology wonderful!

It's been heard from a very reliable source that Carolyn Crenshaw asked Ben Freeman to go steady after the second date, but Ben, being so shy and reserved, didn't think it quite proper. Carolyn is recovering rapidly though; must not be too heartbroken.

Last year when Barbara Andrews got a phone call, it was anybody's guess who he was. However, this year when Barbara goes to the phone, most everyone knows it's Mac Pritchett calling. Not a steadier couple anywhere around.

Joyce Owen put on quite an exhibition the other night to the strains of "Vicious, Vicious Vodka." Joyce, I wonder if Mrs. Corum enjoyed it as much as the rest of us!

Weekends roll around and Shelby Webb heads for home. Must be something around there holding her interest. Can you let us in on it, Shelby?

Despite competition, Joyce Bizzelle and Travis Keiner are seen together quite a bit around here. Do you suppose they are getting up a case?

Kay Pritchett, who is that guy from Vanderbilt we've been seeing around here? Better watch out; these Freeman girls think he's very, very nice!

Well, folks, that's all the news for this time. A big gossip session has just started; so I'll take my pen in hand and see what I can find out. See you soon!

WHITEHEAD NAMED TO HEAD VETS' CLUB

On September 28, the Veterans held their first meeting for the Fall Quarter. Billy Whitehead, President; Tommy Escue, Secretary; and Bobby Parkins, Treasurer; were elected at the last meeting of the Spring Quarter. New officers elected are Thomas Shelby, Vice-President; Charles Tracy, Sergeant-at-Arms; Jimmy Pafford, Critic; Lewis Larsen, ASC Representative; and Jack McGill, Reporter.

We are planning on sponsoring an informal dance entitled "Sadie Hawkins Day" during the Fall quarter. As of printing time no date has been set.

Veterans, support your club. Remember, only a privileged few of the male students enrolled here are eligible and the Vet Club needs your support. At future meetings some lucky person will receive a door prize. Next meeting the winner will get to drool over a juicy steak dinner. You gotta be there to win though.

Tentative plans for the next meeting have a speaker on GI rights. This is your chance to get those questions you have been wondering about answered.

Boost the Vols

Memphis State 'B' Team Downs Vols, 27-6, Before Large Crowd In Home Opener

By PERRY HOCKADAY

On Friday, Oct. 7, at 8:00 P. M., the Martin Vols played their first home game against the Tigers of Memphis State College. The weather was crisp and cool with a steady north wind that prompted the fans and spectators to don heavy clothing; some brought blankets. There was a large crowd on hand to watch the Vols' first home gridiron conflict. Carmon Cowell and Hugh Lashlee were named game captains for the night as is the custom of Coach Henson.

The Vols went into the game with a long line of names on their injured list. Two of the previous standouts on this list were Gene Cain and Scotty Ringold. Cain was injured in last week's game with East Mississippi as was Ringold. Cain is suffering from a laceration on his forehead which required 14 stitches to close. Ringold, a 209 lb. standout at the tackle position, has a fractured foot. Edward Helms, another 200 pounder, was injured in the opening minutes of the ball game and saw no further service. This left the Vols lacking in the line as well as in the backfield.

The Vols won the toss and elected to receive. James Gibbons' kickoff was taken by Bobby Harrison, UT quarterback, and returned five yards, where he was hit hard by the entire M. S. forward wall. On the first play from scrimmage, Clint Edmiston went four yards off tackle. He was followed by a three yard gain by Bobby Lee Kendrick. At this point the Vols looked like they could handle the strong Tigers from Memphis but on the next play the tide turned. On a pitch-out around left end, Edmiston was thrown for a loss of about 2 yards; on the same play U.T. was penalized 15 yards for holding, setting them back to their own five. Harrison elected to put out, but a strong charging M. S. line blocked the kick and recovered on the U.T. five.

M. S.'s first play from scrimmage was good for six points, with big Pete Meadows, 180 lb. sophomore fullback from Lexington, Tenn., carrying the ball into paydirt. Gibbons' try for the extra point was good, placing the score at 7 to 0.

A short kickoff by M.S. gave U.T. the ball on their own 40. Kendrick carried for 5 yards and a Harrison to Lashlee pass gave U.T. the ball on the 50 with a first down. After one running play for 3, Harrison attempted a pass to Carmon Cowell which fell bad. On this play U.T. drew a five yard penalty, making it third and 12 yards for the first down. Harrison again elected to pass and if anyone has ever made a greater effort to catch a pass than Carmon Cowell did on this play, I've yet to hear of it. Despite the great effort by Cowell the pass fell short and U.T. had to punt on the next play. The kick was taken by little Bobby Young who returned to his own 25. On the first play, Young ran 50 yards to the U. T. 25 where he was caught from behind by Edmiston of U. T. Meadows on the next play, carried 15 yards to the U.T. 10 and another first down. After a series of runs, passes, and penalties, Fred Kelly carried the ball over for M.S.'s second TD. This time it was Don Evans who kicked the extra point for M.S. and the score stood M. S. 14, U.T. 0.

Second Quarter

The start of the second quarter found U.T. with the ball on their own 25, third down and 5 to go for the first. After a five yard penalty, Edmiston kicks out; M. S. takes on the 50, first down and 10. Kelly and Meadows carry for 7 yards on two; then little Bobby Young broke loose on a 20 yard gallop to the U.T. 23, but the play was called back on an illegal motion penalty. Some fine defensive play by U.T. followed; M.S. lost 15 yards on the next play, giving them the ball, fourth down and 25 on their own 40 yard line. M.S. punts and U.T. gets the ball on their own 25. After two tries by Edmiston and a penalty, U.T. fights themselves backed up on their own 20. Harrison, who did a fine job of punting all night, got off a 60 yard kick to the M.S. 20. Kelly brought the punt back to his own 40 where it was first and 10 for M.S. After getting one first down on a Buoni to Stacy pass, M.S. fumbled and Carmon Cowell recovered for U.T. On the first play, Bill Cook made a fine block to set up a 5 yard run for Bobby Lee Kendrick. Two more attempts to run were failures and Harrison kicked again, but the kick was blocked and M.S. recovered on the U.T. 20 yard line. After a series of passes and running plays by M.S., which got them nowhere, U.T. took over on their own 20. On the first play, U.T. fumbled and M.S. recovered. Kelly carried for 5, Buoni lost 5 on option play, and on next play, Buoni hit Stacy in the end-zone for a M.S. T.D.

Third Quarter

As the second half began, U.T. looked like a new team. They tightened up their defense and M. S. scored no more than did U.T. M.S. kicked off to U.T. to start the third quarter. On the first play Kendrick carried for 10 yards, only to be called back by an off side penalty. On running play by Harrison, U.T. lost 8 yards, but little J. P. Jordan came back with a 10 yard gain on the wingback reverse play. On this play M.S. was penalized 15 yards for holding and U.T. took the penalty. This brought Jordan's run back and gave U.T. 15 yards in its place. Kendrick carried for 4 on the next play and a Harrison to Lashlee pass gave U.T. the ball, fourth and 4 on their own 40.

Once again Harrison got off a nice punt and M.S. took the ball. After one play, M.S. fumbled and U.T. recovered, Mack Johnson getting the pigskin for U.T. After two running plays, Harrison hit Bob Castleman, who made a beautiful catch on the M.S. 25. After Edmiston failed on a running play, Harrison again tried to pass but was rushed and lost 15 yards. Harrison is a never-say-die boy and on the next play he hit Bobby Castleman for 20 yards. This gave U.T. the ball on the M.S. 20 with a fourth and 5 situation. At this point, M.S. drew a five yard penalty for delaying the game and it gave U.T. first and 10 on the M.S. 15. Harrison again tried two passes and neither were good. On the next play, J. P. Jordan carried the ball on a reverse and picked up four yards. Again U.T. passed and M.S. was ruled interfering—this giving U.T. both first and 10 on M.S. 3. The crowd got a thrill as they saw little Clint Edmiston explode for the remaining 3 yards on two plays. Harrison's pass for the extra point was no good.

Fourth Quarter

After a number of plays, M.S. had the ball on the U.T. 3 but was unable to score. At this point U.T. really showed more spirit than at any other time during the night. Bobby Lee Kendrick was the boy who saved the Vols, by coming up from halfback and making two fine tackles to stop the M.S. surge. U.T. took over on their own 11 yard line. On the first play Eddie Weir carried for 7. Then Castleman lost 7 on the option play, and Harrison again got off a beautiful kick to the midfield stripe. Young on the first play for M.S. carried for 12 and a first down. M.S. moved the ball to the U.T. 4 on a series of pass and run plays. Lovelace carried the ball over for the T.D. to end M.S.'s scoring for the night.

Outstanding for the Vols were Mack Johnson and Tommy Richardson, who played all but a very few minutes of the game. The U.T. line did a fine job considering their two biggest men were unable to play. Bill Cook, who only came out last week, played a superb game, making several outstanding blocks which set up fairly good runs for U.T.

In the backfield, it was Bobby Lee Kendrick and Bobby Harrison who starred for U.T.

M.S. had three fine running backs in Young, Kelly and Meadows.

Vols Down Columbia Academy 9-6 In Season Opener

The Vols got the 1955 season off on the right foot when they won a close 9-6 victory over Columbia Military Academy September 24. The game was the first ever played between the two institutions.

Coaches Henson and Vaughn were well pleased with the first showing of a squad that has most of the men playing college ball for the first time. They especially mentioned the team's ability to bounce back from a few early bad breaks and then come from behind in the second half.

The UT points were scored by Edmiston, Kendrick, and Lashlee. Edmiston scored the TD on a three yard plunge and Kendrick added the point after, also on a plunge. Lashlee scored a safety for the Vols in the final quarter. Columbia Academy had gone ahead 6-0 in the early part of the second quarter.

UT received a bad break immediately after the opening of play. On the Vols' first play from scrimmage Kendrick ran the ball for some 60 yards for an apparent touchdown. The play was called back, however, on a UT penalty. This was the only real threat the Vols made in the first half. Several other times they got drives off, usually to have them halted by a penalty.

The Vols meanwhile held CMA well in check with the exception of the one drive that resulted in a CMA touchdown. The TD came on an 8-yard end run, but the try for the point was not good.

UT came out for the second half full of fight and it was apparent that they were determined to score. Following several drives that were halted, UT took the ball on its own 40 and went straight down the field. Cain, Kendrick, and Edmiston alternated in carrying the ball. There were no long runs in the drive, but a succession of gains of 5, 6, or so yards per carry. Edmiston climaxed the drive with a three-yard plunge and the score was tied. Kendrick then put UT ahead with a plunge for the extra point.

UT held CMA in check the final quarter and threatened several times, but did not quite have the final push needed. CMA was backed up deep into its own territory and Lashlee then downed a CMA back in the CMA end zone for a safety.

The UT starting lineup had Cowell and Lashlee of Camden at ends; Ringold and Helms of Jackson at tackles; Smith of Bolivar and Richardson of New Johnsonville at guards; and Johnson of Martin at center. The starting backfield had Cain of Martin at quarter; Kendrick of Brownsville and Jordan of Bolivar at the halves and Edmiston of Millington at full. Other players seeing action were Bolton, Castleman, Daugherty, Davis, Harris, Harrison, Henson, Hicks, Lowell, Orr, Stewart, Weir, and Wright.

Exercise! Exercise!

We Must Do Our Exercise!

By HELEN CLAIRE CHERRY

Exercise, exercise, we must do our exercise.

Have you heard this old familiar saying around the campus lately? If you haven't, you should live in a dormitory. All you hear is, "Oh my aching back!" and "How do you get around so well?" Golly, to hear some girls talk, all you think they had done previously to Physical Education 111 was sit around an dtwiddle their thumbs. Seriously, there is more to these physical education classes than meets the eye.

Jumping jacks, airplanes, trunk circling, toe bouncing, deep knee bends, sit-ups and leg-lifts, are the major exercises. I hear these exercises are figure developers and I imagine this is the reason that the girls are trying so hard.

Time-killing, loose talk never helped anyone get ahead. Small talk and little people are usually found together.

Cheerleader Squad Boasts Four Veterans; Three Rookies Successful With Big Yells

Twelve hearts were beating wildly, twenty-four knees were madly shaking and twelve people were near a nervous breakdown. Why? These twelve people were fixing to face what to them seemed like a thousand people but in reality were only around three hundred. They were trying out for cheerleader. Believe me, they had just cause to be a little upset. They would have to run, if they could, to the middle of the gym, which is ten times bigger than usual when you are out there all alone. Of course the worst part was waiting for the judges' decision on who received the most applause.

After what seemed like endless ages the judges proudly announced the winners. They were: Miss Eleanor Gresham, Miss Linda Stanfill, and Mr. John L. Baker. Eleanor is a freshman from Bartlett. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gresham. She is a pert little girl with blue eyes and brown hair. She is really an outstanding cheerleader since she has had no previous experience. She was high school drum major for four years.

Another freshman is Linda Stanfill from Henderson. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Stanfill. Her cheerleading experience includes four years at Chester County High School. She is a tall brown-eyed-brown haired girl with an electrifying smile. Our gentleman for this year is well known and liked by all. He is John L. Baker, a true Tennessee mountaineer from Athens. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Luther Baker. He is also president of Kappa Beta and a member of the All Students Club.

We have four regulars back this year. They are: Carolyn Crenshaw, a sophomore from Union City and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Crenshaw. Barbara Andrews is a sophomore from Halls. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Andrews. Marilyn Hancock from Springville is our Junior cheerleader. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hancock. Jeaneen Edwards is the senior cheerleader. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Edwards of Bruce-ton.

Miss Bettye Giles is the eighth member of our group. She is our sponsor. Everyone knows and likes Miss Giles. She is the cheerleaders' guiding light.

—Jeaneen Edwards

homecoming plans. KAPPA ALPHA TAU works with unity with all members working together as its theme. It plans an Old Maid's Party as its social. NU KAPPA NU has set the date for its meeting. A cabaret party, Winter Wonderland, and a spring quarter social were the main topics. Collecting clothes and food for needy at Christmas along with plans for homecoming were major aims. SENIOR CLASS dealt primarily with its three socials; an informal party, a spaghetti supper, and a banquet. Basketball scholarships were brought up.

"CLUB wants to get a good film of homecoming and various activities. VETERAN'S CLUB plans to bring back Sadie Hawkins Day as an annual event. VOLETTE STAFF wishes to continue informing the student body of happenings concerning UTMB. More influence is to be placed on news value than for the social aspect. Cooperation from every student is requested.

VOLUNTEER JR. has elected its officers with Shirley Whitley as editor. Its plans are to be announced at a later date.

SPEECH GROUP is planning to present several plays to the student body. All students are eligible to participate in the plays. Plans are indefinite as to a theater for production.

After all the reports were given, official group sessions were assembled in groups of three: Presidents met with Mr. Grady Taylor and Miss Mildred Price to discuss problems and responsibilities of that office. All vice-presidents met with Mr. Glenn Gallien and Miss Hazel Bradshaw. All secretaries-treasurers met with Mr. Henry C. Allison and Miss Aaltje Van Denburg.

Dramatics Group Holds First Meeting

By PATSY RICHARDSON

The first meeting of the new Dramatics group was held Monday night, October 3.

There were thirty-five students who expressed an interest in the activities of the organization.

The permanent meeting night has been established for the second and fourth Monday nights of each month at 7:00 P. M. The officers for the organization will be elected at the next meeting. It is necessary that all students interested in joining the new organization be present at the meeting, which will be at 7:00 P. M., October 17, in Room 205 of the Administration Building.

Tryouts for all productions will be open to the complete student body. It is not a closed organization, but includes all, either members or non-members.

Mr. Swain, the theater director-manager, feels that the life blood of the theater lies within new playwrights which will be submitted to Mr. Swain and the play-reading committee.

The theater will produce plays which may not have the tremendous box-office of a New York production, but do have the qualities of worthwhile drama.

The organization hopes to do a variety of one-act plays during fall quarter.

The organization is now in need of a permanent meeting place for rehearsals and presentations.

Since the Dramatics organization is for the benefit of the student body it must become an active and productive organization in the whole of the institution. It must produce plays, stand on its two feet as much as possible, be educational to people that participate, and be of some mental, moral, and spiritual value to the spectator. The organization must bring good drama to the discerning few, rather than mediocre drama to the many.

There are three possibilities for members of the student body to support the theater; these being in the cast of the production, the production staff, and last, but not least, the audience. The theater welcomes and encourages the part of every student in any of the three capacities.

J. Robert Swain, the director of the new theater, majored in English and speech drama at Wake Forest College, Wake Forest, North Carolina, from which he took his B.A. degree in 1954.

Mr. Swain has participated in seventeen major productions. In the 1951-52 season of the Raleigh Little Theater he was awarded an "Oscar" of this theater. The award was given for the best male performance of the year. The director of this theater was Ainslie Pryor, who went to Hollywood, became associated with Paul Gregory, and made his professional stage debut in "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial." He did graduate work at Baylor University under the direction of Paul Baker, who is an outstanding and vibrant director in the field of educational theater.

Swain spent four seasons with "The Lost Colony," which operates at Manteo, North Carolina.

After discussion periods were concluded, a tour of the Kentucky Dam was made followed by dancing and recreation.

Breakfast was served at 7:00 A. M. The group then assembled for a sunrise service in the auditorium with Henry Farrar in charge. The speaker was Mr. Ed Eller, Sunday School Teacher, First Methodist Church, Martin.

The group loaded the buses and returned home with plans for the coming year well in hand and another successful retreat!

Alumni News

By BOB PARKINS

Richard Sechler, Ag '55, visited the campus recently. He will report to Camp Campbell in the near future for paratroop training. Richard is enjoying his leave with wife, Dickie Carter, Alumna 1951-52, and family in Memphis.

Jackie Reese, Ag '55, is employed by the Dyer Farmers Co-Op in Dyersburg. Mr. Counce visited him recently and advised us that Jack expects a nod from Uncle Sam very shortly.

Bobby Phillips, Ag '54, will complete the requirements for the MS Degree in Agricultural Economics at UT Knoxville in the near future.
